Massachusetts

About Daniel: He's a camp counselor who loves swimming and rowing.
"Infusing on a schedule helps me focus on the things I value the most."

Chayse

Home state:
Georgia

About Chayse: He loves to play golf with his brother because it's a way for them to stay close.
"Over the last 28 years, I've stuck myself over 5,082 times. ALTUVIIIIO would mean sticking myself as few as 52 times a year."

Ashley,
caregiver/mom
Harrison, age 5
Home state:
Georgia

About Harrison: He plays T-ball and loves to sing.
"We tried prophylactic therapy, we tried a Sub Q. Then, at a conference, I learned about ALTUVIIIIO[®]." —Ashley

Allison, caregiver/mom
Emilio, age 15
Home state:
Florida

About Emilio: He's participated in a swimming league since he was 7, and loves playing basketball with friends.
"Moving to Florida from Puerto Rico was one of the best decisions we ever made for Emilio and his treatment." —Allison

Brian

Home state:
Washington, DC

About Brian: He's a grad student focusing on health policy.
"I was using factor mimetic treatment to see if it worked for me, but I had to supplement regularly with factor."

Courtney

Home state:
Tennessee

About Courtney: A former competitive dancer and cheerleader, she's now a mom of 3.
"My hope is that more people will learn about how this rare disease can impact women if not treated properly."

Jenny,
caregiver/mom
Paxton, age 14
Home state:
Ohio

About Paxton: He runs cross-country, and plays basketball and video games with his friends.
"It's great to have the freedom to infuse only once a week." —Jenny
